

Active work effectively with people to maximise wellbeing and get the most out of their lives.

We achieve this by building a team of staff around a client, who have similar hobbies and interests, so they can develop meaningful, in depth relationships.

Our dedicated Support Planning, Communication and Positive Behaviour Management teams develop personalised plans with people that ensures they can;

- Communicate preferences, wants and needs
- Engage in meaningful activities
- Make choices and be in control of their lives
- Play an active part in their community
- Maximise independence
- Maintain relationships and develop new ones
- Stay safe
- Be healthy

CQC Inspection Report: “There was a dynamic, positive and open culture at the service and we found staff “buzzing” with ideas and examples of how they had implemented new ways of working to benefit the people using the service.”

“The provider had an excellent person-centred culture and this underpinned their service and was the foundation for their vision and values. The management team and staff were extremely committed to delivering a service which was exceptionally caring and empathetic. People and relatives overwhelmingly expressed their satisfaction about the service, telling us they could not manage without it.”
